

NO TROOPS FOR COAL FIELDS

Today

Uncle Sam is Rich.
Plain, Unpleasant.
23 Maniacs.
More Purifying.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

UNCLE SAM will probably collect in taxes $100,000,000 more this year than last. Good news for many, especially those that like to see important public works put through. With one hundred millions as a starter,
you can do a good deal.

WITH Dante through Purgatory and Hell, you find misery no deeper than was seen in the faces of twenty-three maniacs carried into court that the judge might send them to an asylum.
Some were in strait-jackets, struggling horribly, some on stretchers.
One young man had tried to kill himself, worrying about the income tax.
His income is $23 a week.

Their troubles were all imaginary.
So are many troubles among those called sane. One hundred years wipes out everything.

ONE of the most amusing demonstrations witnessed in this nation capable of extreme silliness is the excitement about giving back his money to Mr. Sinclair.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, sensibly calls it "paying a hired assassin for the dagger he left in the body of his victim."

YOU may have noticed occasionally in this column the suggestion, "Don't sell things short in America." The wise E. I. Du Pont Nemours gentleman bought 114,000 shares of United States Steel common a little while ago. Many said then: "The stock is very high." Needing a little cash the Du Ponts have just sold that steel, making about $8,000,000 profit.

THE day is coming and the Du Ponts know it, when they will wish they had kept their stock.

However, don't gamble. Steel will go up, but it can go down. And it will do that also. UP and DOWN, and the DOWN drops out the little fellows—wiser, sadder, poorer.

DR. HERRING, chairman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, says it is wrong to Christianize Jews. He especially objects to "evangelizing, hidden under the guise of ice cream parties." Considering that we borrowed our religion from the Jews, fixing it up our own way, it is rather impertinent to demand they take our version of it.

However, there is little danger of successful evangelizing.
If fire, torture and religious hatred spread over nearly two thousand years couldn't do it, ice cream parties won't do it.

DAVID LAWRENCE, who sometimes gets political news in advance, says Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will support Gov. Smith of New York, for president. If Gov. Smith were elected president he would remember his friends better than President Wilson remembered some of his. Ask George Harvey.

THE American Actors' Union
makes stringent rules to prevent actors from England and other places working in America. If the actors are mechanics, that is a good idea. If they are artists, it is bad.

Artists should be welcomed and encouraged everywhere. They are rare.

Heddlston to Speak at Aliquippa.
R. C. Heddlston, this city, an international Kiwanis trustee, will be the principal speaker at a district meeting of Beaver County Kiwanis clubs in Aliquippa, Pa., tonight. Visiting delegations of club members from Beaver Falls, Rochester, Ambridge, Sewickley and Coraopolis will attend the meeting. Frank D. Long, president of the Aliquippa club will be toastmaster.

Walter Clark Found
Unconscious at Street
Corner.

Believed by police to have been struck by a hit-skip automobile driver,
Walter Clark, aged about 45, West Sixth street, was found unconscious at the corner of Sixth and Monroe streets at 7 o'clock this morning.
With his clothes drenched and one shoe missing, he was carried to the home of his mother, Mrs. K. I. Clark, not far distant, by Roy Broadbent, Newell potter, and another man. An examination by a physician who was summoned by members of the family disclosed that both knees were lacer-ated, his shoulder injured and his face cut.

Patrolmen Leslie Curran and Chester Smith and Desk Sergeant Henry Aufferde made an investigation of the case after the man had been removed to his home. Later, Captain Conley visited the home where he was told that Clark was unconscious.
Mrs. Clark refused to discuss the case with the police. Attorney G. Jay Clark, brother of the injured man, declared there was "nothing to say"
when questioned by a newspaperman.

CALL TAX RELIEF HEARING APRIL 3

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The prospects for enactment of a tax relief bill at the present session of congress were brighter today following an announcement that the senate finance committee will begin tax relief hearings on April 3.

Both Republicans and Democratic leaders declared the hearings would be short in the hope of getting a tax bill before the senate by the middle of April. This would give the senate six weeks to enact the bill and an additional week for the house and senate to concur on conflicting amendments before the June recess. The house already has passed a relief bill.

S-4 HERO'S BODY IN FINAL REST

WASHINGTON, March 22.—With six Annapolis classmates acting as palbearers, the body of Lieut. Graham
N. Fitch, who met his death in the ill-fated submarine S-4, will be carried to its final rest in Arlington National cemetery this morning.

It was Fitch who tapped out messages from the hull of the S-4, and asked "how much longer?" for hours after the submersible was rammed.

WEALTHY WIDOW. BUTLER ELOPE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Relatives of Mrs. J. Pierpont Edwards, wealthy 72-year-old widow of Bedford Hills, N. Y., were amazed today upon learning that she had eloped with her Scotch lover.

The butler, John Burdon, is 43. Mrs.
Edwards, a leading member of society, is a great-grandmother. She is worth more than a million dollars.

Search for Missing Girl.
CLEVELAND, March 22.—Mrs.
Elizabeth McDonough, of Pittsburgh, was here today searching for Margaret McDonough, 17, her daughter, who has been missing since December 25.
Last, Mrs. McDonough came here after receiving word from a friend that her daughter had been seen in Cleveland recently.

Shell-Shocked War Vet, Believed
Dead, Finds Wife Wed to Another

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Following a lapse of almost eight years, during which he was believed dead by relatives, Edward Furlong, 42, from a bed in the Great Lakes hospital at Great Lakes, Ill., has written to a sister, Mrs. Nellie Bilson, in Willoughby, O., near here, it was learned today.

HINT DUMMY, NOT BODY, BURIED

MAQUOKETA, Iowa, March 22.—
Believing that a wax dummy was buried in his grave instead of the body of George Hillsinger, Sabula Banker, several depositors in the closed institution have petitioned the board of supervisors of Jackson county to open the grave.

The board has refused, but it informed the petitioners that if they would raise the money the grave would be reopened.

Hillsinger died in a Chicago hospital several weeks ago and his body was buried at Sabula. His bank was closed the next day and immediately rumors were circulated that he had fled and that a dummy had been buried in the grave.

OIL SCANDAL QUIZ IGNORES FALL PROPOSAL

Senate Committee Will Not go to His Bedside.

ABANDON PLAN Former Cabinet Officer Denies Knowledge of Bonds.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Albert
B. Fall's professed willingness to tell his story about the oil scandals, on the basis of his telegram from El Paso, failed to impress members of the state investigating committee today, and the project of sending a sub-committee to his bedside was abandoned.

"Mr. Fall says in his telegram that he knows nothing about the Continental Trading company, nor the liberty bond profits that accrued therefrom," said Senator Walsh (D.), of Montana, the committee's proponent. "The purpose of the present inquiry is to find out what became of those bonds. It appears, therefore that he has nothing to tell the committee. As for the oil leases themselves, concerning which he appears willing to testify, I do not believe he could shed new light on them. That phase is pretty well known."

Fall is ill, desperately ill, according to his physicians. Some of them have given him six months to live. He is too ill, the physicians say, for him to come to Washington for the conspiracy trial with his co-defendant in the Teapot Dome case, Harry F. Sinclair.
Their trial is scheduled to start April 2.

He does know, he said, "of matters affecting the lease of Teapot Dome, and of the financial transactions concerning his Three Rivers ranch property," and it is about these that he is willing to talk.

The financial transactions concerning his ranch involve the $233,000 in liberty bonds which found their way from Sinclair to Fall, and which committee prosecutors have described as a "bribe."

Took Witness Stand Once.
Fall has taken the witness stand only once since it became publicly known that he received money from Sinclair and Doheny—$100,000 in cash from Doheny, and $233,000 in liberty bonds from Sinclair. This occasion was on Feb. 2, 1924, more than four years ago, when he refused to testify "on the ground it might incriminate me."

He has been twice subject to criminal trial. His trial with Doheny resulted in acquittal; a trial with Sinclair resulted in a mistrial because of the surveillance of the jurors by Burns detectives in the employ of Sinclair.
In neither of these trials did Fall take the stand.

Toledo Bishop's Residence Looted.
TOLEDO, O., March 22.—Police are searching for burglars who last night entered the residence of Bishop Samuel A. Stricht, of the Roman Catholic diocese here, and escaped with $240
in war saving stamps and $40 in cash.

Home. He had enlisted when war broke out, and at its end, had submitted, to a brief "cure" in an army hospital. He returned to be greeted by a little stranger, for a son, Maynard, had been born shortly after he sailed for France.

He resumed his trade as a carpenter and, for a time, the little family, husband, wife, infant son and a daughter, Mary Louise, now aged 11, enjoyed a happy life.

Mrs. Bilson said she believed her brother was unaware that his wife had married again and that his children are calling another man "father."

A few months after his return from France in 1920, Furlong disappeared from his Kansas City

QUEBEC TESTS GALLOWS FOR EXECUTION OF EX-BOOTLEGGER

George McDonald
Awaits Death March
at Valleyfield.

HOPE ABANDONED

Wife, in Montreal Cell, Believes he Will Confess.

VALLEYFIELD, Que., March 22.—
Preparations for the execution of George McDonald, former Broadway bootlegger and con man, are completed. As the sun creeps over the horizon tomorrow morning he will march from his death cell to the foot of the ladder and be propelled into eternity by Hangman Ellis in fulfillment of the sentence of death imposed for the murder of Adelard Bouchard.

Thirty-five miles away, in Montreal,
his wife, Doris Palmer McDonald, will await news of his death, hoping that ere he mounts the gibbet McDonald will confess and completely exonerate her.

McDonald was brought to Valley-field from Montreal late last night and was quartered in a cell adjacent to the gallows. He will be visited this afternoon by his parents and will spend the last twelve hours of life in the company of Father Verschelden, prison chaplain.

Final efforts to secure a reprieve
for McDonald have failed.
Police reinforcements reached here
this morning for duty in the vicinity of the prison. All visitors to the city are under close police surveillance.
Hearing rumors that friends of Mc-Donald might attempt a last-minute jail delivery, Chief Lorain and his officers immediately quadrupled the guards at the county jail where Mc-Donald is scheduled to be hanged.

FORD PURCHASES "SENECA JOHN"

TIFFIN, O., March 22.—"Seneca John," wooden cigar store Indian, has been purchased by Henry Ford agents for $100, it was announced here today.
"Seneca John" for many years stood centrally before a nicotine establishment
at New Riegel, near here.

MARY PICKFORD'S MOTHER DIES

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 22.—
Mrs. Charlotta Smith Pickford, mother of Mary Pickford, died in her sleep in her home here last night.

Three of her famous children, Mary,
Lotta and Jack Pickford, were at her bedside when she died.

Mrs. Pickford was born in Toronto,
Canada, Sept. 3, 1872.

Woman Burned to Death.

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Mrs.
Elizabeth Knoetke, 66, was dead at her home here today, due to getting too close to a backyard bonfire late yesterday when her clothing ignited.
Before aid could reach the woman,
she suffered fatal burns.

Avalanche Kills 13 Ski Tourists.

ing for the bodies of 13 ski tourists who were killed in an avalanche on

FAD MARRIAGE WINS DEBATE

Lawyers Discuss Companionate Idea at Lions' Dinner.

Decision in favor of the negative side was rendered in a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That Companion-ate Marriage is a Menace to Society," at the dinner meeting of the Lions' club in the grill room of the Travelers'
hotel, East Fourth street, at 6:15 o'clock last evening.

Attorneys Walter S. Stevenson and Charles Boyd had charge of the affirmative side of the argument, while Attorneys William S. Foules and Harry Brokaw spoke for the negatives. Dr. J. A. Fraser, Joseph Smith and W. H. Shaw were judges.

G. H. Austin, secretary of the Ravenna club, was a guest at the meeting.

Kenneth Martin, K. W. Gero and Charles Kidd were named as a committee to arrange a program for next week's meeting.

WINS COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Julia Palmer McDonald (right) of Mount Vernon, N. Y., will not die with her husband at Valleyfield, Canada.
Her husband exonerated her in his second confession of implication in the murder of Bouchard, a taxi driver. Premier Tasharan (above) has commuted her sentence to life imprisonment.

Canton to Entertain Five School Orators

Winners of East Liverpool, Marion, Steubenville and Salem District Contests Will Enter State Finals in Stark County
City on April 27.

Winner of the East Liverpool district oratorical contest, to be held in the high school auditorium Friday evening, April 13, will be entertained in splendor when she or he goes to Canton to compete against Steubenville, Marion, Salem and Canton zone representatives in the state finals on Friday evening, April 27.

The district entrants are: Miss Marjorie Hall, East Liverpool; C. Richard Glinder, Wellsville; Lloyd Lange, Salineville, and Michael Rabino, Lisbon.

Arrangements have been completed for holding the state contest in the First Christian church at Canton, one of the historic houses of worship in that city. It has a high auditorium and the acoustics are said to be splendid. The seating capacity is about 1,500.

Rev. P. H. Welshimer, pastor of the First Christian church, and others connected with it, granted permission to hold the contest there.

Five judges are now being selected.
It is hoped to have these judges representative of the state supreme court, some of the colleges of the state and other activities allied with promotion of an event as important as the international oratorical contest.

The entertainment program for the visiting students and their companions
also is being worked out at Canton.
This no doubt will include a matinee theatre party, and perhaps a dinner for the visitors.

$20,000 AWARD AS HEART BALM

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Gertrude McGushion, 22, New York and Atlantic City dancer, was awarded $20, 000 by a common pleas court jury here in a breach of promise suit against Duc Kerekjarto, theatre and concert violinist.

Miss McGushion had sued for $50, 000, claiming her heart had been broken because the violinist had jilted her to marry a Cleveland woman.

Kerekjarto did not appear in court.
He left Cleveland yesterday, shortly after the case was concluded, according to his attorney.

out the United States this week. An

SPARK OF LIFE BURNS IN "MYSTERY WOMAN" TWICE PRONOUNCED DEAD

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A spark of life still burned today in the capital's "mystery woman," twenty-four hours after she was removed, apparently dead, from a Pullman berth in a New York train, taken to the district morgue and laid out on a slab.

Two physicians had pronounced her dead before she reached the morgue. She had been found in her berth with a chloroform-soaked towel about her head, and bichloride of mercury tablets in her purse.

On the slab at the morgue, an attendant saw a twitching of the neck muscles. He summoned a

STEUBENVILLE SHERIFF ASKED FOR MILITIA IN MINE ZONES

Governor Rejects
Jefferson County
Appeal.

ALLISON WIRES

Sought Aid in Quelling Disturbances in Strike Area.

COLUMBUS, O., March 22.—
Governor Donahey today refused to call out Ohio militiamen for service in connection with the coal strike in Ohio.

Deny Need of Militia.

The governor's decision to reject
the appeal of Sheriff W. T. Allison, Jefferson county, for Ohio National Guardsmen to aid in quelling and preventing disturbances, attributed to striking miners and their sympathizers, in that county, was reached during a conference in the governor's office this forenoon. The conferees included Governor Donahey, Adjutant General Frank Henderson, Jacob
Meckstroth, the governor's secretary, and George W. Savage, Columbus, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio organization of United Mine Workers.

Governor Donahey based his decision upon the belief that all the local authority available in Jefferson county for maintaining law and order has not yet been used. The governor voiced the opinion that there is no evidence that local authority cannot cope with the situation in that county.

Miners Ready To Co-Operate.

During the conference, Savage communicated, over long-distance telephone, with State Representative W.
T. Roberts, Bellaire, secretary of the District No. 8, Ohio United Miners.

After the conference, newspaper men that had been waiting for Governor Donahey's decision will co-operate with local authorities in their efforts to preserve order and will continue to advise striking miners and their friends to obey the laws and conduct themselves in a peaceful manner.

After making a survey of the situation as it exists today in Jefferson county, Roberts is to make a report to Savage this afternoon, Savage announced.

Governor's Reply.

Governor Donahey, replying to Sheriff Allison's appeal for state troops, today telegraphed the sheriff as follows:

Seven members of the Ohio State University Men's Glee Club, which will present two recitals in the high school auditorium today for the benefit of the high school band, were guests of the Kiwanis club at a luncheon in the grill room of the Travelers Hotel today.

The Strick Mask quartet, accompanying the glee club, rendered a group of selections while a piano num-

speaker was Ira F. Mellinger, Lec-tonia lumber dealer, and lieutenant-governor of the eight Kiwanis divisions, whose subject was "As a Man Thinketh."

About 65 members and their guests attended the meeting. Ralph Couch presided. Prof. H. F. Laughlin led the singing.

The glee club presented a matinee for school children at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and will give its second concert at 8 o'clock tonight. A reception for the students will be given in the high school gymnasium
following the evening program.

Proceeds of the concert will be used in purchasing new uniforms for the high school band.

Two East Liverpool boys are members of the college organization. Gerald P. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Boyd, Fawcett street, is first tenor, while Russell C. Heddlston,

PICTURE LAST DAYS OF MEN ON SUNKEN S-4

Lieut. Fitch Pounded Out Code Messages With Wrench.

BRAVE TO END

Naval Inspectors Find Heart Thrills in Steel Tomb.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD, Boston, March 22. — Standing three rungs up with his back to a swaying steel ladder, a socket wrench held in his right hand high above his head, Lieutenant Graham Newell Fitch pounded out messages on the sloping walls of the forward torpedo compartment of Submarine S-4 as she lay in her grave 102 feet below the surface off Provincetown at Christmas eve.

The brave lieutenant was groggy from chlorine gas seeping from the water-flooded battery room, yet for three days he stuck grimly at his task of tapping out messages—messages that thrilled the heart of the world.

"Will it be long now?" was his last. Find Socket Wrench.

Lying in their bunks with their right arms resting across their bodies, three of his comrades heard him signalling from the dark chamber. Two others were on the floor. One man clutched the foot of the ladder, holding a dying comrade with his free arm.

This was the heart-stirring picture of the last days of the six men in the torpedo room as pieced together today by naval inspectors while examining the interior of the submersible in dry dock here.

The submarine torpedo socket wrench, with its T-shaped top dented, was found in the mud on the floor of the torpedo room. The ladder was there. The two bodies, removed from its base were at Chelsea naval hospital. On the sloping wall, as near to the surface as Lieutenant Fitch could get, was a large dent in the white paint.

Needed Improvement

Every person who, by force of circumstances, must use the worn out paving which connects East Liverpool with the Keystone state should approve the proposal of the city council to proceed with the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue, an all-important link in the Ceramic City-Pittsburgh highway on the northern side of the Ohio river.

By a vote of 6 to 1, solons, with E. L. Green, representing the First ward, comprising East End, opposing, have adopted a resolution calling for re-surfacing of the avenue from Maple street to Dry Run.

For more than two years, the Pennsylvania avenue job has been discussed pro and con, but has been deferred by opposition to the plan of paving for the improvement on the same basis as other streets are improved, with property owners being assessed a share of the expense. But in this case, the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company will pay no small part of the bill, for the street railway owners are responsible for 17 of the 36 feet comprising the width of the thoroughfare.

Few, if any, main arteries of transportation in East Liverpool are in such deplorable condition as Pennsylvania avenue, which is the eastern outlet of the corporation. The street should be improved, and city council should speed the legislation to this end.

Pays Penalty for Perjury

That Cleveland jurist who sent the daughter of a Rochester, N. Y., millionaire, to Mansfield reformatory for a year because she lied in her efforts to get a divorce, is entitled to the earnest, profound and cordial consideration of the public.

To say the judge's decision rocked Cleveland's divorce mill is putting it lightly. His decision was nothing less than a heavy charge of legal dynamite. The jurist—Judge Weygandt—threw his verbal bomb into the proceedings at the end of a caustic lecture to Mrs. Elizabeth Seldenfeld, twice-married, who admitted she had filed a false affidavit with her latest petition for separation.

Thus does a Cleveland judge take up the cudgel in vigorous effort to rid his court room of perjury. Recently it was announced by the Cleveland bench, and supported by the bench in New York, that perjury would have to be halted or there would be drastic penalties exacted from offenders. But the admonition apparently fell on barren soil.

Now there is offered concrete evidence that at least one of Cleveland's judges is going to crack the whip whenever he finds a flagrant case of perjury, such as must have been the case to provoke such severe punishment as that meted out to the young woman offender whom Judge Weygandt packed off to the women's reformatory.

Observers in the court room at the time the sentence was invoked say there was not a whisper to be heard for several minutes after the decision was handed down—that the woman in the case, her lawyers and spectators were absolutely pop-eyed with amazement! It was a most extraordinary occasion, apparently.

But perhaps the object lesson will bring desired results. Men and women who resort to the courts for this or that and who have no regard whatever for the sanctity of the oath, should be summarily dealt with. That is the only way, it would seem, to remedy a most aggravating condition.

May the courts strike while the iron is hot—and let the sparks burn whom they will!

Brains and Minds

The Russian Soviet government started the practice of making a man's body his monument, when they embalmed Lenin and set him up in a glass case for posterity to gaze at. That, to civilized minds, was revolting enough. But now the Soviet government proposes to establish a "brain pantheon" in which the brains of celebrated Russians will be preserved and exhibited as "sacred relics."

Anyone who has seen the anatomical horrors, in the form of waxwork models, exhibited in American "dime museums," will have some idea of the psychological effect the proposed "pantheon" would have on visitors. To normally sensitive persons, any such exhibition is a nightmare.

The Russians responsible for this project insist that, along with the value of embalmed brains as "sacred relics," they will have a scientific value. Beholders may realize what a fine thing it is to possess a big, symmetrical, well convoluted brain, and may strive to develop their own brains likewise. Scientists will have the advantage of studying the brains of men and women of unusual talent. "Only such scientific investigation," says Prof. Bechterev, "will enable us to determine what genius really is."

Maybe the material scientists could come to understand the genius of a Tolstoy or Chaliapin or Shakespeare or Bacon or Michelangelo by studying his brain, but most of us may be pardoned for doubting whether anybody will ever be able to do that.

There remains a curious confusion in the minds of many people, including some scientists, which seems to identify brain and mind. Unquestionably the brain, during physical life, is the instrument of the mind. And a good mind needs, and probably has, a good instrument to work with. But in ordinary affairs we never make the mistake of taking the machine for the creator. Does brain make mind, or mind make brain?

The police department seems imbued with the spring clean-up spirit, judging from 23 arrests over the weekend.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Dr. Hugh Smith Cumming has been continued as head of the United States Public Health Service by reappointment for a third term by President Coolidge. The appointment was confirmed by the senate the same day it was received from the White House and the surgeon general took the oath of office again.

Dr. Cumming has been identified with the Public Health Service since 1894 when he was made an assistant surgeon. In 1899 he was promoted to the grade of assistant surgeon general; in 1911 to surgeon; in 1918 to assistant surgeon general; and in February, 1920, to surgeon general. He is the fifth man to be at the head of the service, which dates back to the Marine hospital service created by act of congress, July 16, 1798, to provide medical service for seamen of the American merchant marine.

The present functions of the service, as set forth by Dr. Cumming, are the protection of the United States from the introduction of diseases from without; medical examination and inspection of all arriving passengers and seamen; prevention of interstate spread of diseases and the suppression of epidemics; cooperation with state and local health departments; investigation of diseases; supervision and control of biologic products used in the prophylaxis and treatment of diseases; collection and publication of morbidity data, sanitary legislation, court decisions on public health, and general sanitary information; public health education, and the maintenance of marine hospitals for the care and treatment of certain beneficiaries as prescribed by law.

The personnel of the public health service consists of a large corps of commissioned and non-commissioned medical officers of various grades, scientific experts, and technical and other employees. In 1926 there were 1085 medical officers and scientists, 3338 general and technical employees, and 4442 officers of state and local health departments who held nominal appointments from the Federal Government and cooperated with the Public Health Service by furnishing morbidity reports and in other ways.

The medical officers are secured in the same manner as are the medical officers of the Army and Navy—by competitive examinations, that is, that are open to graduates of reputable medical colleges. The grades, in addition to the surgeon general, are assistant surgeons general at large, senior surgeons, surgeons, passed assistant surgeons, assistant surgeons, dental surgeons, and internes.

A Virginian and a graduate of the University of Virginia, Dr. Cumming has had a wide range of experience particularly fitting him for his position at the head of the Public Health Service. He has studied the medical aspect of the immigration question at Ellis Island, has been in charge of quarantine at San Francisco, has been detailed to the Orient and brought into close touch with the diseases of that part of the world, and has given much study to the problem of the pollution of navigable streams and coastal waters.

During the World War he was detailed to the Navy as adviser in sanitation and later was sent to Europe in charge of public health service activities relating to sanitation, returning troops, and the resumption of trade. He served as president of the Interallied Sanitary Commission to Poland and was engaged in that work when he was made Surgeon General eight years ago. He was tendered the decoration of the Legion of Honor by France and the decoration Poland Restituta by Poland, and Congress authorized him to accept them.

Dr. Cumming is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, a Fellow of the American College of Physicians, has represented the United States at the Pan American Sanitary conference, at the Immigration conference in Rome, and at the Office International which proposed the new International sanitary treaty, and is vice president of the Health section of the League of Nations.

ABROAD With McIntire

LONDON, March 22.—This is a first visit to London in winter and after a topsy turvy trip across the choppy channel, the town seemed to droop in the mantle of thin gray. Yet the heart beat of London has a brisk murmur like an overtone of solidity and is stimulating and marvelling.

London has an imperial stolidness that is more noticeable coming out of easy going France. It accentuates the difference between a republic and a monarchy. Here you feel it would be less majestic to whoop in the street or "dunk" sinkers in your coffee. Dignity is enthroned.

Even servants appear superior and you sense a faint sneer behind their "Very good, sir." A hotel courier corrected me the first shot, I told him to carry a black valise. "You mean the portmanteau?" he inquired. I was tempted to reply: "I mean the black valise and how are His Majesty's knock-knees?"

Taxis start here at a shilling—some one and six—and are higher for long hauls than in New York. Coming out of Victoria one sees the usual London bubble-bubble—bobbies with comic chin strapped helmets, newspaper vendors encased in billboards with screaming banners, bonneted old Cockney women selling catch heather for a ha'pence.

Also crippled service men, their breasts glittering with decorations, selling matches; the kerb toy hawkers; the stream of lumbering busses criss-crossed with gaudy ads; the bleary and bloated froth-blowing coves who stagger from pub to pub; spats, monocles and silk hats at noonday. There is something comfortable about London's sooty-striped buildings, so mellow and formidable with age. They give forth an aura of durability typical of Britain. As I passed the parliament buildings Big Ben was booming the noon hour.

I had the driver circle down to the Thames embankment entrance to the Savoy. The benches are still dotted with the hopeless unemployed who seem to be England's eternal economic question marks living on the government "dole." The American is immediately spotted by beggars.

The English hotel servant cannot understand why the newly arrived traveler does not wish to be refreshed by a "pot of tea." He unlocks your door, deposits your baggage, throws back your curtains and inquires: "Tea, sir?" A refusal sends him away in a sort of bewilderment. I really wanted a pitcher of ice water but I'm only in London for a few days. I take a week for the ice water idea to percolate.

In the midst of a bath, the telephone rang and thinking the voice inquiring, "Are you there?" was a jesting American acquaintance, I replied: "With my hair in a braid." I did not know whether it was a sample of British humor or not, but I was immediately switched over to the hairdressing parlor. The voice, it developed, was that of the telephone operator wanting to know if I wished mail sent up. My attempt to be merry confused her. She thought I wanted my hair braided, I suppose.

After luncheon at the renowned Simpson's on the Strand I set off for Piccadilly Circus—the Times Square of London—and managed to cross it twice safely despite the left-handed traffic. There seem to be more Americans here than in Paris and shops are busier. Prices are sky high.

In Burlington Arcade I dropped into a vest establishment—the "By Appointment to R. H. H. the Prince of Wales" sign tricked me—for an evening vest. The clerk insisted I wanted a weskit but I held out with native Missouri stubbornness for a vest. He quoted me the price of each sample for a half dozen lot. His psychology won, for I bought three whereas I wanted one. I should have started off just looking for a vest button and let him talk me into a complete vest.

At dusk a fog as thick as pea soup sprung up and back of the Savoy a tiny singer faintly discernible in the mist was chanting a dolorous song to the accompaniment of a wheezy accordion. All that was needed was a mournful hound dog to voice his woe and that body in the Thames would be the boy friend.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Why will women take the hazard of being disfigured for life by submitting to operations for beauty?

I have seen really pretty girls permanently scarred and disfigured by the unskillful use of hair destroyers. The same chemical agents that dissolves hair can burn and scar and scar the skin.

It is a worthy ambition to strive for beauty. But honest beauty, or at least real attractiveness, is within reach of almost everybody. Study the homeliest of faces and there will be found features which are most appealing.

A very famous English woman told me once that she has good-looking ears, a remarkable nose, perfect lips, pretty hair, "but," she sighed, "they don't match up." "The ensemble," she declared, "is a failure."

But her wits and nimble mind, her sparkling eyes and animation of manner, more than make up for physical beauty which she denies having. Let me say at once, however, that I do not share this charming lady's estimate of her face. I think she is very good-looking.

After all, health is the prime essential. As I see it, the advice of physicians should be sought, not for operations, merely, but for directions about eating and sleeping and breathing and the care of the body. The correct physical conditions which are interfering with perfect health are far more important.

Many a nose seems prominent because the cheeks are thin and wasted. A drooping eyelid is conspicuous, because there is no flame in the cheeks and sparkle in the eye, to take attention from the defect.

You can get more good looks out of a course of lessons in horseback riding than you can get out of a surgeon's kit.

Mind you, I don't decry the surgeon. He is a dandy blessing to thousands of the human race. We couldn't get on without his skill.

But there are two reasons and two only for going to the doctor. You go to him to get well if you are sick. Better still, you go to him for advice about how to keep well.

The job of getting "beautiful" is your job, not the doctor's. He will tell you that the food he recommends and the manner of life he prescribes will give you health, provided—provided what? Provided you carry out instructions.

We can tell you what you should do, but unless you have the character to apply the advice, the fees are wasted. You are the one to fill the prescription. Nobody can do it for you.

When you are considering the possible effects of an operation which is undertaken for no other reason than to add to your appearance, do not forget it is all over. I beg of you not to overlook the hazards involved. You must consider very soberly the fact that every operation is attended with danger. It should not be determined upon lightly. What you hope may add to your beauty can easily ruin it forever.

If you are determined to undertake or to consider such a procedure, I beg of you to make sure the surgeon is qualified and experienced. Never submit your body to the knife unless the operator is worthy of your full confidence.

Other Editors Say

A Bad Condition.

The senate by a decisive vote, accepting the recommendation of its committee on interstate commerce, rejected the renomination of Commerce Commissioner John J. Esch. A number of factors apparently influenced the decision. The commissioner's vote on the lake cargo coal case was the one most widely discussed. But in addition to that votes were cast against him both in the committee and on the floor because he was co-author of the present transportation act; because he belonged to the anti-LaFollette group in Wisconsin, and because Wisconsin has had two commissioners since Esch was appointed in 1921.

If, as Senator Fess says, Esch was rejected because of his vote on the coal case, Commissioner Aitchison "is already informed of the fate that awaits him. It follows that the six other members who voted with him should be denied continuance and the commission . . . should either be eliminated altogether or at once reorganized."

Rejection of Esch after that of Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania a year ago points to a serious sectional division in the senate over places on the commerce commission. It almost appears as if the president would be obliged to select men known to accept the south's view of the coal rate problem in order to fill the existing vacancies and other vacancies as they arise.

Such a situation would undermine the commission's usefulness and reduce the whole question of rail rates to a basis of sectional barter. After the advance made by the commission in the past twenty years in placing rates on a basis of reasonableness to shipper, carrier and public, it would be a grave misfortune if the results of its effort were now to be nullified. Some senators who voted against Esch can scarcely have realized the possible consequences of their action.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Once Overs

ARE YOU A GRATEFUL GUEST?
 Do you find that one of the hardest things you have to do as a departing guest is to express your appreciation of the entertainment afforded?

Do you find yourself mumbling something in a tone which the host or the hostess cannot understand?

Or do you have a set form which you use on all occasions?

Have you said those farewell or "take-leave" phrases so many times that they come from you glibly and without any real feeling?

Why not try being natural at such times?

That is all that is necessary if you are not being deceitful.

If you cannot accept the hospitality of a friend in the right spirit you have no moral right to be his guest.

It should not be difficult to express a sincere feeling of pleasure and gratitude for an enjoyable afternoon or evening.

It does not need special combinations of words to convey honest thought—just be natural.

No Scrubbing No Boiling

YOU'LL never know how white and bright clothes can come from the washer or tub—until you've tried Rinso!

The secret is in the suds. Rinso suds are thick and creamy even in the hardest water. And they last until you're ready to rinse. These safe suds whiten clothes without boiling—sterilize, too!

Since Rinso is granulated, it dissolves completely. And it rinses off easily, carrying grime, grease and stains along. No "rubbed-in" soap remains to yellow your cottons and linens.

Rinso asks no help of bar soaps, chips or water softeners. It's all you need, no matter how hard the water.

And Rinso goes so far! A little makes a great tubful of soapy suds. Not empty bubbles, but real suds.

$10,000 FIRE LOSS AT SALINEVILLE POTTERY

BLAZE SWEEPS STRAW SHED OF CHINA COMPANY

Frame Structure Near Ceramic Plant Destroyed.

ORIGIN UNKNOWN

Volunteer Firemen Prevent Spread of Flames.

Fire of undetermined origin last night destroyed the big straw shed of the National China company at Salineville, together with its contents. The loss, according to estimates of plant officials, is $10,000.

The flames were discovered by Mrs. Harriet Temple, who lives a short distance from the plant. Mrs. Temple turned in an alarm to the Salineville volunteer fire department.

The straw shed, used as a storage building, measured 40 by 100 feet. It was connected by a r-r with the coopers shop, 10 feet away, and for a time plant officials feared that the latter building would go up in smoke also. As a result of the efforts of fire fighters, however, the flames were confined to the one structure.

The straw shed was located about 40 feet from the main plant of the pottery.

National China company officials today publicly thanked firemen for their efforts last night.

SCHOOL SITE IS PROBLEM

Hammondsville Board Unable to Agree.

School patrons of the Hammondsville district are anticipating a visit from a state department of education representative this week as a result of the inability of the board of education to select a site for Hammondsville's new $25,000 school building.

Three locations are said to be under consideration for the proposed building, bonds for which were voted at the last election.

One is the property of Judge Jay Paisley, who has set a price of $600. It is a six-acre tract.

The second is the property of J. L. Kaul, William Cope and James Parsons, including four acres and five lots along the state highway near the covered bridge. The price on this ground is said to be $1,400.

The third site, and the one said to be favored by a number of citizens, comprises three acres on the state highway east of the present school building. It is owned by Howard Elliot and the reputed price is $3,500.

The present school building is too small, it is said, to accommodate the enrollment. Two teachers are now handling 106 pupils in two rooms. Ten or 15 additional students are expected next fall.

Don't Squeeze Blackheads — Dissolve Them

Squeezing out blackheads makes large, ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get two ounces of Calomite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and every one, big or little, will disappear at once.

STATE READY TO AWARD CONTRACT FOR SPILLWAY AT GUILFORD PARK

Charles Marietta, of East Rochester, Given Job of Clearing 489-acre Tract.

LISBON, March 22.—Contracts for the construction of a spillway and closing of gaps at the new state park at Guilford in Hanover township are expected to be awarded by the state department of public works within the next 30 days.

Charles Marietta, of East Rochester, has been awarded the contract for clearing the 489-acre tract of fences, trees and other growth and obstructions.

The law authorizing a state park in Columbiana county provided that the tract should contain not more than 500 acres.

It is understood that the county commissioners will proceed, if possible, next year to improve the old state highway from its intersection on the Lincoln highway to Guilford.

Western townships have an improved highway to the new park with the exception of that section between Guilford and the county home farm. Northern township have access to two roads, one from Damascus south to New Alexander and one from Salem south over the Salem-Hanover link where the old state road intersects both improved highways.

Two Court Cases Dismissed.

LISBON, March 22.—The foreclosure action filed in common pleas court by Ralph W. Moff of Salem, doing business as the C. W. Coffee company of Lisbon, against John E. and Ida Carls, has been dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff. The Peoples Savings & Loan company of Lisbon was named as a party defendant in this suit.

The case filed by Moff against Charles F. Field of Lisbon, wherein judgment for $388.58 was sought on an account for merchandise, has also been dismissed.

Snow Fences Removed.

LISBON, March 22.—The state department has begun to remove snow fences from along all highways, and these will be stored at the state warehouse in Lisbon until next fall.

Gas Forces Woman To Sleep in Chair

"Nights I had to sit up in a chair, I had stomach gas so bad. I took Adlerika and nothing I eat hurts me now and I sleep fine."—Mrs. Glenn Butler.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Your babies are too precious to be subjects for any experiment, and it's worse than folly to "try" things on them when you can be sure. Plain, old-fashioned Castoria is making sick, feverish, fretful babies well and happy today just like it has been doing for over fifty years. Physicians recommend it and millions of mothers swear by it. It soothes crying, wakeful babies to sleep quicker than paregoric or any other opiate, and causes no harmful effects. It removes souring material from their little stomachs and intestines quicker than castor oil, and does it without griping or sickening. There's nothing quite like it for colic, constipation, diarrhea, colds, or any of baby's little "upsets." Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable. Doctors declare it harmless to even the very youngest of infants, so you can use it as often as baby needs it. Its taste is delightful. Take a little yourself and see why "children cry for it." Only one thing to watch. Get genuine Castoria—the bottle bearing Fletcher's signature. It is not expensive. "Care and Feeding of Babies," the book worth its weight in gold to every mother and prospective mother, comes with every package.

SENATE FIGHT ON MELLON TO BREAK TODAY

Filibuster Can Block Vote to Oust Secretary.

COUZENS MOVE

Some Insurgents and Democrats Favor Resolution.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A spectacular effort to oust Andrew W. Mellon, one of America's richest men, from his post as secretary of the treasury, was scheduled to break in the senate today.

Under senate rules, the Couzens resolution was subject to debate shortly after noon but a vote on it could be blocked if its discussion lasted until 2 o'clock. A simple filibuster for that length of time would temporarily prevent final action on it.

There were indications that some Republican insurgents and most of the Democrats would support the resolution, sponsored by Senator James Couzens (R) of Mich., a multi-millionaire himself and an old-time foe of Mellon. Their controversy dates back to 1922 when Couzens conducted an investigation of tax matters, only to find the treasury suing him later for millions of dollars in back taxes over his former ownership of stock in the Ford Motor company.

Reed Fights Resolution.

Administration senators, led by Senator David A. Reed, (R) of Pennsylvania, were ready to fight the resolution. With the aid of Democratic conservatives, they appeared certain of commanding a sufficient majority to defeat the resolution unless new charges are introduced in the fight. Couzens sought the ousting of Mellon on three major grounds: First, Mellon's concealment of the fact for four years that he had handled $50,000 of Harry F. Sinclair's liberty bond gifts to the Republican party; second, Mellon's alleged responsibility for illegal settlement of tax disputes, and third, Mellon's ownership of oil and other stocks while secretary of the treasury.

DRINK BLAMED IN BOY'S DEATH

Coshocton Student Takes Poison in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, O., March 22.—Drink was blamed for the suicide of Raymond S. Tish, 19-year-old Coshocton student at Miami University, Oxford, in a note made public by Coroner Swing here today. The youth's body was discovered last night in a room of the Palace hotel here. Tish had swallowed poison, mixed with a beverage, Coroner Swing reported. He had registered at the hotel the night before as John Fulton, Hanover, O.

A hotel employee investigated when it was reported that young Tish had not been seen since early in the morning. Finding the door to the youth's room locked, he climbed through the transom and found the body, fully clothed, lying on the bed.

A bottle of ginger ale stood on the table and another bottle had been thrown out the window, according to police.

Tish was a sophomore in the college of arts at Miami and was working his way through school. He was a member of Beta Kappa fraternity.

Green Sees Chicago World's Biggest City With Industrial Area

GARY, Ind.,—A metropolitan Chicago industrial area extending from Michigan City, Ind., to Peoria, Ill., is predicted by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green's prediction was made to the Calumet District Labor Federation. Such an industrial area, according to Green, would make Chicago the largest city in the world, and the labor center of the world.

Already, according to Green, plans are being laid by industrial leaders to extend the Chicago industrial region, and to bring all the units into active co-ordination.

SIX MEN NAMED FOR CONTEMPT IN BAR EXAMS

Attorney General Accuses Clevelanders in Quiz.

GRADES RAISED

Aftermath of Jail Term Given Ralph Miller.

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Six Cleveland men were accused of contempt of the Ohio supreme court in litigation instituted by Attorney General Edward C. Turner here this afternoon. Turner filed with Clerk Seth Miller, of the supreme court, "information" charging Roy H. Guilkey, Robert E. Albin, Charles K. Botten, George Schneider, Minor C. Reid, colored, and Welcome T. Blue, also colored, all of Cleveland, with fraudulently conspiring with Ralph W. Miller, a son of Seth Miller, to obtain for themselves passing grades at the state bar examination conducted last June under the direction of the state supreme court.

Turner asked the court to adjudge all these men guilty of contempt of court and to revoke the certificates which had been given to Albin, Guilkey and Botten. Reid, Blue and Schneider, it was announced, failed to receive passing grades.

Announcement was made at the attorney general's office that it was planned to have these six men arraigned before the supreme court here next Wednesday.

Turner's Allegations. Having pleaded guilty to a charge of contempt of the supreme court, Ralph Miller, some weeks ago, began serving a 70-day sentence in the Franklin county jail here.

Turner charged, in his "information," that Guilkey paid Ralph Miller $250 in connection with an agreement with Miller that Guilkey's grade was to be raised to a passing grade at the examination. Guilkey's grade fell below the required 75 per cent minimum. The attorney general stated that Guilkey received a grade of 72.6 per cent which, later, was fraudulently boosted to 75.6 per cent.

The attorney general charged, also, that Albin paid Ralph Miller $350 and that his grade was raised from 74.4 to 76.4 per cent; that Botten paid Miller $50 and his grade was boosted to 75.2 from 74.75 per cent, and that Schneider paid $250 to Ralph Miller, who, it was charged, received $100 and $50, respectively, from Blue and Reid.

Already, according to Green, plans are being laid by industrial leaders to extend the Chicago industrial region, and to bring all the units into active co-ordination.

PAT M'DERMOTT MOURNS DEATH OF BEN NADEL

Lifer Was Befriended by Man Slain in Rum War.

HID FUGITIVE

Two Men Met While in Penitentiary at Atlanta.

BY ROBERT B. WALLACE.

CLEVELAND, March 22.—With one suspect under arrest here, the probe into the murder of Ben Nadel, convicted protector of Pat McDermott, who is serving a life sentence for the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher, and a companion, today shifted temporarily to Buffalo.

Nadel's companion has been identified as Morris Miller of Buffalo. Earlier "identification" of the man as Morris Miller of St. Paul and Chicago, proved groundless.

Miller, police say, was well known in Buffalo. His wife arrived in Cleveland yesterday and positively identified him. She could give no clue to the identity of his slayers, however.

Detectives expressed the belief that Nadel and Miller had been killed as a result of a bootlegging-Hi-Jack feud. Both bodies, found in Nadel's auto near Willoughby, O., early Wednesday, were riddled with bullets.

Convict Lauds Dead Man.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 22.—Pat McDermott, once a tough little gunman, and now a life prisoner in the grim confines of the Ohio penitentiary, mourns today for Morris "Ben" Nadel, the man who befriended him when he was a fugitive, sought by police of the entire country as the "key man" in the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice-lighting Canton newspaper publisher.

Early yesterday, Nadel's body, and that of a companion, both riddled with bullets, were found in an automobile on an isolated road near Willoughby, Ohio.

To police it was just another bootleg shooting. But to Pat McDermott, down at the penitentiary, the passing of Nadel means something more.

"Stuck By Me," Says Pat. "Poor Benny," Pat mused, "I won't do this ever happen to him? He wasn't a hijacker. I don't believe I ever knew another bootlegger that was his enemy. And now he's gone—the only pal that stuck by me."

McDermott reminisced at length. He first met Nadel when they were both serving a "stretch" in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Ben was popular with the other prisoners. He supervised boxing bouts and other pastimes. He and Pat became friends.

Then several years later, after they had both regained their freedom, came the Mellett murder. McDermott, after hiding out for three months in Cleveland, was captured when he went to his home at Nanty Glo, Pa.

While he was in hiding it was Nadel who came to his assistance when his money ran low. Then after McDermott's trial and conviction police learned of this and arrested Nadel on a charge of harboring a felon.

Dramatic Climax of Trial. The dramatic climax of Nadel's trial was recalled. McDermott, a convicted murderer, was led into the courtroom at Cleveland and placed on the witness stand. A lawyer told Nadel to stand up and inquire of McDermott, "do you know this man?"

Pat looked steadily at his pal, shook his head slowly, and replied, "I never saw him before in my life."

It was well staged, a nice gesture, but futile. Nadel was found guilty and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He was released on bond, pending an appeal, and this was the status of the case when he was murdered.

"I wish to God he had served his time," Pat remarked bitterly today. "If I were in the courtroom, over a year ago now, was the last time I ever saw him."

Ben Was Tender-Hearted. "Poor devil. And he was as tender-hearted as anybody I ever knew. Anybody that needed money or help could get it from Benny Nadel. Always doing something for his mother and father. Why he changed his name from Morris to Ben so that whenever he was arrested for selling booze his folks wouldn't know about it from reading the papers. His old mother must never know he was a bootlegger, he said."

"He must have spent all of $500 on me while I was in Cleveland. He was always ready to lend money to his friends. Once he told me that he would have close to a quarter-million if he could collect all that was coming to him."

McDermott denied that Nadel helped him because he was in allegiance with "the Canton gang." It was merely friendship, Pat said. Since he's been in the penitentiary the rule which says that convicts may write only to their relatives has kept him from communicating with his former pal. He'd like to send some flowers to Ben's funeral, Pat said, but the rule may prevent that too.

"He was a bootlegger," the little convict concluded, "but I wish I had a few more friends like Benny Nadel."

COOLIDGE SAYS 'THUMBS DOWN' ON DRAFT MOVE

For Third Time President Upsets Politicians.

SLEMP CONVINCED

Tells Wisconsin he Will Not Seek Another Term.

By George R. Holmes. WASHINGTON, March 22.—The "draft Coolidge" movement, which has been growing weaker lately, had very little left to nourish it today.

For the third time President Coolidge has taken himself out of consideration for the Republican nomination, and even the hardest-boiled skeptics were about convinced he meant it.

Even C. Bascom Slemph, his former secretary, who has insisted all along that Mr. Coolidge would be drafted, and that he would accept a renomination if it were forced upon him, conceded today that the Republican choice will have to fall elsewhere.

Mr. Coolidge's third refusal of the crown was couched in somewhat different fashion than his previous renunciations. In the Black Hills he said last August that he didn't "choose" to run. To the Republican national committee here last December he said "look elsewhere." To the Wyoming Republican committee he petitioned him to "accept four more years," he said, "I must decline to grant the request."

Leaders in important states who have kept their organizations in hand by the "draft Coolidge" plea, were put in a quandary by the president's latest move. Among them Charles D. Hilles of New York and Mayor Thompson of Chicago, have successfully withstood threatened invasions from other candidates by whipping it up for the draft movement and arguing for unimpaired delegations.

der in Jefferson county, acknowledged. My observers report that the situation does not warrant use of troops which is the state's only police force.

"Section 12,811, Ohio statutes, gives you authority to deputize such numbers of citizens as may be necessary to aid and assist in dispersing and taking into custody violators of this section."

"Local authority, as represented by you, has not used all the means at its disposal in maintaining law and order. Until it is evident that local authority cannot come with the situation, state forces will not be employed."

Sheriff's Telegram. "A crowd estimated at 300 unlawfully assembled in the vicinity of Dillonvale mine No. 1, near Dillonvale, Ohio," Sheriff Allison telegraphed the governor last night. "In compliance with state laws I as sheriff of Jefferson county issued a proclamation, ordering them to disband. They refused and I was unable with my limited number of men to compel them to disband."

"I respectfully request that the state of Ohio furnish the necessary assistance to enforce law and order. These people defied my orders as sheriff and in my opinion this action is necessary to prevent rioting and the loss of life and property."

GANGSTERS KILL "DIAMOND JOE"

CHICAGO, March 22.—"Diamond Joe" Esposito, powerful Italian leader whose picturesque career has been lived on the twilight border between rowdiness and respectability, is dead today, a victim of gangster bullets.

"Diamond Joe" Christened Giuseppe was shot down within a few feet of his home last night as he returned from a twenty-fifth ward political meeting. He died on the way to the county hospital.

Three men, armed with revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, poured a volley of laden bullets and poisoned slugs into Esposito's back from a closed automobile in which they had pulled up to the curb.

Ralph and Joe Varchetto, brothers, and reputed bodyguard of Esposito, were being held today on suspicion.

Joe Montana, a notorious character on the West Side, was also taken into custody by police.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, March 22.—Stocks of the United States Steel and General Motors Corporations, the twin giants of American industry, led the procession in the forward movement of prices at the beginning of trading today.

General Motors pushed through to a new high at 131, and United States Steel at 153 1/2 was within a point of the January high-water mark. Sinclair featured the oils, with a new rise to around 27, and Hupp was the favorite of the low-priced motor group, with a two-point jump to 52.

That powerful financial interests are still at work on the constructive side of the market was evident from the huge turnover of 5,000 and 10,000 share blocks of the high-priced block at peak prices for the year, and in many cases, the highest prices on record.

Trans-actions of this magnitude are considerably beyond the reach of the clerks and elevator boys who are reputed to have made such "killings" in the stock market.

Nearly a billion dollars has been added to the market value of the outstanding shares of General Motors by the 50-point rise in the market price of the stock since March 3, the day on which the abrupt reversal in the market took place.

The motor corporation stock of 260,000 shares were taken out of the market by the officials and employees of the corporation, is Wall Street's explanation for the remarkable bull movement in stocks almost coincident with a decline in industrial output and disappointing earnings of important departments of American industry.

Special Offer To Victims of Gas and Chronic Indigestion

All Druggists Say Pleasant to Take. Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomach or Money Gladly Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness that you think your heart is going to stop beating. Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and easy. You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done. Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally. Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all? Especially when any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to end indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.

FAMOUS TWINS TO VISIT CITY

San Antonio's Siamese Come to Ceramic Next Week.

Everyone has heard of the "Siamese Twins." A nation-wide public interest in them began in the early part of the nineteenth century when the famous twins, Chang and Eng, born joined together, were first presented under the banner of P. T. Barnum. Since then, four or five other sets of twins of similar character have appeared, and in each successive pair, interest and curiosity grew.

It is in the appearance in vaudeville of Daisy and Violet Hilton, "San Antonio's Siamese Twins," that public interest reaches its height.

The inseparable union of these two lovable young girls, vivacious, engaging and charming, attracts an immense interest to their appearance next week at the Ceramic theatre, where, in an artistic and entertaining offering of music, song and dance, they are to make their vaudeville debut in conjunction with a feature picture.

High school graduates, talented musicians and accomplished entertainers, Daisy and Violet Hilton, although born joined together, each has her own likes and dislikes, and frequently they are not at all alike. Yet nature, in joining them together for life, forced on them the need for compromise, for consideration and thoughtfulness. The result—never a disagreement! No two girls could be happier or more contented with their lot than Daisy and Violet Hilton.

On the jump in all weathers

3/4 of the Highway Police questioned said, "Saves us sore muscles"

THE MEN whose job it is to keep the highways safe are famous for their courage, their daring, their defiance of hardship, strains, danger.

In every state they represent the pick of its hardest specimens. Their bodies must be strong, quick, supple to respond to the sudden emergencies they are constantly called upon to face. And yet they have to do their work under conditions that would lay most men up with colds, rheumatism, stiff, strained muscles.

How do they keep themselves free of these ailments?

We put this up to the men themselves. Three-quarters of the number questioned said, "We use Sloan's."

Everywhere—the chief reliance of hard workers

And everywhere you get the same answer from people whose work keeps them out in bad weather or brings a heavy strain on their muscles. They swear by Sloan's Liniment.

Used after exposure to wet or cold, it prevents chilling, colds, stiffening of the muscles. And it brings the quickest, surest relief for every kind of muscular pain, rheumatism, sprains and bruises.

Read this statement from a policeman who has served on the Philadelphia police force for twenty-seven years: "As I have used a considerable quantity of Sloan's Liniment in the last few months and received almost instant relief, I think it my duty for the sake of humanity to recommend it to others. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Sloan's for all pains in the back and legs, as I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather." William R. Christy, Sr., 1933 Master Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

And this from a brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern who was suffering agony

One of the Highway Police who said, "We swear by Sloan's to ward off the results of exposure and strain." It's the best ever to knock colds, prevent rheumatism, limber up lame muscles, and relieve the pain of sprains and bruises.

from a sprain and a wrenched ligament:

"I fell off the top of a box car on my left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose. I suffered considerable pain for about forty-eight hours. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It relieved the pain right away. It is now fifty-three hours since I was hurt. I have no pain at all to speak of. The swelling has nearly all gone down. I think it is the best liniment I have ever used. I suggest that anybody having a sprain get a bottle and apply it according to directions." Harry M. Hall, Belle Plaine, Iowa.

Everyone should have Sloan's Liniment always on hand—for immediate use in case of emergency. Apply liberally—but without rubbing. Right away you feel a glowing warmth—a quick, powerful stimulation to the circulation which breaks up congestion and sweeps away germs and poisons. The pain stops because the cause of the pain is gone. Use it for:

Rheumatism Lame Muscles
Sciatica Stiff Neck
Lumbago Colds and Neuralgia congestions
Sprains and bruises

Here's what the company doctor of one of the big railroads says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

Do you enjoy your food?

If you do not enjoy your food it is a true sign that you are losing your appetite. And when your appetite is "gone" it means you haven't the resistance to ward off disease. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red, blood builds and sustains
Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that nourish and sustain the body.

When you get your red blood cells back to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong; and your nerves become steady.

Soviet Plans Welcome For Charles A. Levine On Hop From New York

MOSCOW.—Charles A. Levine will be welcome in Soviet Russia at any time he chooses to fly to Moscow from New York, and will be rendered every possible assistance, Osoaviakhim, the society for aerial and chemical defense, announce it wrote to the millionaire flier in response to a request about atmospheric and landing conditions.

The society's experts said they recommended June, July or August for the flight into Russia. There are ample facilities for continuing the journey through Siberia with landing fields at intervals of about 400 miles.

The Soviet press is manifesting greater interest in the proposed flight to Moscow than in Col. Lindbergh's lone hop across the Atlantic. Though nothing definite has been decided, stories about the possible longest non-stop flight on record are appearing daily.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

Dr. Caldwell watched the result of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Specialist Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Mathew's Original Cut Rate and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

Moriarty Satisfied With Tiger Lineup As Campaign Nears

Feels Certain He Has Junior Loop Contender

Boasts Strong Infield Cordon in Neun, Tavener, Gehringer and McManus; Pitching is Slight Question.

Editor's Note—This is the fifteenth of a series of articles by the International News Service, dealing with developments in connection with various major league clubs in spring training. The sixteenth and last of the series will follow.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 22.—With the spring training season almost completed, George Moriarty has just about decided the personnel of his Detroit Tigers for 1928 and, in contemplating the list, he finds himself far from dissatisfied. The Tigers had about everything happen to them last year that can happen to a ball club, yet they finished in the money and gave indications of latent strength that seemed certain to come to the surface before long.

Moriarty wouldn't say today that it had arrived at that point but he left no doubt that he considers he has a sure contender, in spite of slightly uncertain pitching. The rest of the club, he declared, needed nothing and wanted nothing.

He is especially keen about his revamped infield. Only the keystone pair, Tavener and Gehringer, remain from the quartet which started the 1927 season. This pair, however, is regarded by camp observers as the most promising young combination one could find in a day's travel, particularly since Tavener has completely recovered from last season's injuries.

Infield Looks Great.
On first base will be Johnny Neun, who was good enough last year to drive Lou Blue to cover and eventually off the club altogether. Neun is another young star. At third will be Marty McManus, who has suddenly decided to pay some dividends on his St. Louis reputation. Marty has taken the position away from Warner, last year's regular, and is going so well that it would take a ranking star to replace him.

Moriarty refers to this infield as the best Detroit has had in years. If it does what he says it will, it will make even indifferent pitching look good.

As the Tiger plot contends, the pitching really shouldn't be so indifferent with Earl Whitehill, Eli Storer, Holloway, Gibson, Carroll, Billings, Smith and Van Gilder figured as regulars. They have the potential ability and if they begin to click, the fact that young pitching has been a disappointment this year can be forgotten. Vic Sorrell, the southerner, is far and away the best of the younger crop.

The infield recruits are a nice looking lot. There is, for example, Chick Galloway, former Mackman, who is ready to jump in at an emergency any time. Emmet, former Cincinnati Red, also will be carried for the same purpose. Warner is in there trying, too, and young Sweeney has done very well as a substitute first baseman.

Don't Need Outfielders.
Sweeney is one of five prize recruits turned up this season, the others being Sorrell, Emmet, who may beat Galloway out of the infield utility job; Ed Phillips, a big catcher, and Paul Easterling, a fast, young outfielder. As usual, the Tigers hardly need many outfielders, young or otherwise. They have Harry Heilmann and Bob Fothergill, two of the league's leading hitters, and Red Wingo, last year's substitute, back again, and, in addition, Harry Rice was brought here in return for Heine Manush. Moriarty and the Tigers are sure they got the better of this dicker and cite Rice's superior speed as proof of the contention. Rice surely is fitting in well with the other outfielders.

In spite of the surplus of talent, Easterling may be carried all season, so well has he played here.

There doesn't seem to be any doubt about the four catchers, either. Wood all is ready to step in there and do the bulk of the work, with Shea and Hargrave as understudies and Phillips learning what he might as a warm-up man.

The catchers are not quite the class the infielders and outfielders can muster but they are at least adequate. This leaves pitching as the only real question to be answered this year.

See Hornsby Influence In Braves-Cards Trade

Bell, New Bostonian, Starred for Rogers in 1926 But Flopped Last Year; High is Sent to Redbirds' Roost.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Without straining an ocular tendon, one can see the fine, spatulate hand of Rogers Hornsby figuring ultra-prominently in the deal, announced yesterday, whereby Lester Bell and Andy High changed into the uniforms of the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals respectively. I am aware that a mere second baseman and field captain has no particular business figuring even obscurely in an inter-club deal. Also that Hornsby had declared eternal allegiance to Jack Slattery and that sweet spirits of apple sauce are anointing the entire premises.

However, this is no ordinary second baseman and field captain. We are talking about Rogers Hornsby, who managed the Cards into a world's championship only eighteen months ago and now outdraws his manager almost 3 to 1 in salary. Hornsby, as aggressive and dominating as ever, is exerting a definite influence in the affairs of his new club and, if you don't think so, then there is nothing for it but for you to admit that canned spinach makes a swell corsage. The Bell deal may not substantiate this contention, ipso facto, whatever that is, but it certainly offers no rebuttal evidence, either. The fact of the matter is that Hornsby and Bell were mutual admirers in St. Louis and the inference is that the trade wouldn't have been made if Hornsby's interests had been elsewhere.

Hornsby wanted Bell. He got him. The New York Giants only dropped overtures, looking toward the same result, when they discovered that Hornsby himself was not to remain in New York for another season.

It was common gossip around the 1926 world series that one of the greatest of Hornsby's triumphs at that time, exceeded only by the fact that he had brought the Cards into the world's series, was the development of Bell.

His effect on Bell was almost instantaneous. From a very commonplace third baseman, he became a ranking star in 1926, not only fielding sensationally but hitting close to .330. When it was all over, Hornsby was unfrocked and sent to New York. Upon which, Bell blew himself to a most indifferent season, hitting down around .260.

Rhem won twenty ball games for Hornsby during the pennant year but was a flop in 1927. Maybe Hornsby's departure had nothing to do with it. All I know is that Rhem liked him and wasn't able to win last year. If our alleged Svengali can persuade Bell to play up to his 1926 speed, the Braves are made as a ball club. If he can't there is no particular harm done.

Soph Passers Cop Two Class League Tilts

Boys' Girls' Teams Win Contests With Juniors.

Sophomores turned in a double victory over their Junior rivals in inter-class basketball tilts yesterday afternoon. The second year boys copped a close argument with the upper class five, and the Soph girls had a decisive edge over the Junior lassies, 26 to 11.

The boys' game was a real battle, the Sophs conquering their upper class rivals in the last period after trailing in the first half by a score of 16 to 9. All the winners played good ball, with Chetwyn their scoring ace. Menge, Burbeck and Mackall were the best performers for the Juniors, Menge leading the point makers.

The Sophomore girls coasted in to victory in the other game on the card. Grumet and Cochran led the scoring.

Lodgemen Capture Hot Overtime Tilt With Toronto Passers

Joe Canne's Field Goal Sews up Victory, 31-30

Local Center Comes Through With Deciding Bucket to Even Series Standing; Wilson Scores 16 Points.

By a score of 31 to 30, the Elks nosed out the Toronto Brown News in the second game of the series here last night, the Antlers' victory evening up the count. Toronto passers won the opening game of the series at Toronto Saturday night.

It took an extra period of five minutes to decide the winner, the score being tied 29-all when the allotted time was up.

In the extra period Brown put the Toronto passers in the lead with a free toss, but Canne came through with a bucket.

The teams appeared to be about evenly matched, the Antlers playing their best in the second period, and the Toronto passers showing up strong in the last.

Carl Wilson was the big noise for the Elks last night. Besides playing a good floor game, Carl greatly helped the Elks' cause along by caging seven buckets and two charity throws.

All the rest of the Antlers played real basketball at their positions, while the performance of the Hinkles and Brown was outstanding for Toronto. Brown swishing the ball through four baskets and two foul shots.

Toronto took the lead at the start, Hinkle scoring the first basket. Brown got another Toronto bucket. Pusey barged the first Antler basket. Hinkle made the count 6 to 2 when he registered again from the field. Wilson banked in a two pointer for the Elks and Toronto led, 6 to 4, at the end of the first period.

In the second period there was nothing to it but the Elks. Poul goals by R. Crawford and Wilson put the Antlers in the lead.

Wilson shot two baskets in succession, while McConville sank another basket to give the Antlers a commanding lead. The locals easily kept in front for the rest of the period, the count being 17 to 9 when the half ended.

Brown started the scoring for Toronto in the third period, dribbling up the floor and dropping in a double decker. Hinkle made the score closer with another Toronto field goal. Wilson and McConville tossed Antler field goals to make the score 21 to 13. The Antlers' margin was cut when Hinkle and Brown registered field goals for Toronto. Wilson kept up his good work by sinking another double decker, and the Elks were on the long end of the score, 23 to 17, when time was over for the period.

Holding a six-point lead at the beginning of the last period the Antlers began playing a defensive game, not trying very hard to score, but the Toronto aggregation began finding the basket at the same time on long shots and tied up the score in the last few minutes of play. L. Hinkle's field goal in the last 30 seconds of play knotted the score at 29-all, sending the game into an extra period.

As play resumed Brown put the Toronto passers in the lead with a foul goal. Toronto began playing for time, but the Antlers worked the ball up in Toronto territory and Joe Canne sneaked in the sucker shot that won the game.

In the preliminary, the Buckeyes easily outclassed the Laughlin Aces by the score of 49 to 27. Feit and Withrow were the Buckeye scoring stars, while Jester was the leading point maker for the Aces.

NEWS AND VIEWS

By the Sports Editor.

PLANS to bring the New York Celtics, world's greatest basketball team, to East Liverpool for an exhibition game, the last big event of the season prior to the Tri-State district tournament, are being considered by Bill Powell, who brought Jim Thorpe's team here recently.

And the result of his efforts likely will be determined by the outcome of the series between the Celtics and the Fort Wayne club which opens in Fort Wayne, Ind.

In the event that the eastern aggregation should cop three contests without a miss, there would be nothing to interfere with their appearance in East Liverpool the forepart of next week.

The Celtics are billed to clash with the erstwhile Morris at Duquesne University on Saturday night and it is not improbable that a number of East Liverpool cage followers will take in the engagement, which is being promoted by Joe Goldman who has been prominently connected with Pittsburgh basketball for a number of years.

If the series between the Celtics and Fort Wayne goes to extra games, necessitating appearance in New York it is not likely that the local game will materialize.

In the event that he is able to land the Celtics, Powell expects to line up practically the same squad that trimmed the Indians here recently. The Celtics, with Davy Banks, leading scorer in the American Professional Basketball League, Nat Holman, Pete Barry, Lopchick, Dehnert and Whitty would be certain of a capacity house here.

TONY PAULSEY will lead his Youngstown Big Y five to Cincinnati Thursday in quest of the national Y. M. C. A. basketball championship. The final series for supremacy, following a series of state tournaments, is scheduled for the last three days of the week in the Ohio city.

Paulsey's outfit defeated the Patriarchs for the Youngstown City title the other night by a score of 41 to 23. Prior to the game Paulsey was named to captain the outfit in the Cincinnati meet.

MANAGER CUM POSEY will shoo his Homestead Grays onto the diamond at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, on April 14 for their first game of the 1928 campaign.

This notable collection of colored baseball stars which in past seasons has never failed to draw big gates in their appearances in the East Liverpool district lines up again this season unchanged with possibly one or two exceptions. Bobby Wilson, it is understood, will be missing from the shortfield this season and Posey will have a new man or so.

DAYTON STIVERS high, winners of the state scholastic basketball tournament at Columbus, will represent Ohio at the national meet in Chicago April 3 to 7.

Permission for the team to enter the national tourney has been granted by the Dayton board of education after it had been considered doubtful whether the team would be permitted to make the trip. Rules of the Dayton board of education prohibit its athletic teams from remaining away from class room work for more than one day, but the board has established dates of the spring vacation to include the dates of the national tournament at Chicago.

HERMAN CLOUTS HOMER, DOUBLE

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 22.—Babe Herman, formerly a first baseman, has battered his way into the Brooklyn outfield. His home run and double featured the Robins' 3 to 2 victory over the Washington Senators at Tampa yesterday.

GIANT HURLERS IN POOR FORM

BRADENTON, Fla., March 22.—The New York Giants are batting impressively, but their pitchers are showing poor form. The New Yorkers needed 29 hits to nose out the Red Sox yesterday, 11 to 10.

CLASH WITH ELKS FRIDAY TO DECIDE SERIES.

Deciding game of the East Liverpool-Midland basketball series will be staged tomorrow night in the high school auditorium when the Antlers and the Collegians, standing at an even rating as a result of a victory apiece in the two games played to date, battle in the third and final set.

The Pottery City representatives shared the opening game by a comfortable count, but, in their second clash with the Steelers, were stopped by a 42-32 count in a hot contest.

Naturally, the decisive engagement should top the previous two in action and general excitement, inasmuch as the big end of the gate receipts accompanies the victory in the Friday tilt.

The rivals are dividing on a basis of 60-40.

Tunney Faces Ire of Ring Rulers

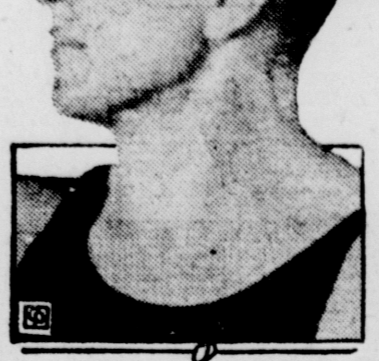

NEW YORK, March 22.—Diplomatic relations between Gene Tunney and the New York state athletic commission were badly strained today, and may be broken off altogether tomorrow.

The heavyweight champion, replying to a communication from the commission, ignored a suggestion to pick his next opponent from Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko, who have challenged him in New York and informed the commissioners that he had turned that particular business over to Tex Rickard for adjustment.

There will be a discussion of Tunney's case at the commission meeting tomorrow and it may develop into a slap on the wrist for Gene.

In the meanwhile Tunney's six months' grace expires today and no opponent or date has been announced for his next match. It has been just six months since the Dempsey-Tunney affair in Chicago.

NAVAJO, March 22.—Navajo, with its tank town, store and sheep corral was left behind as C. C. "cross-country" Pyle's "blistered barons" pushed eastward today toward Lupton, their twentieth control and their last night's halt in Arizona. From Navajo to Lupton, the speedometer clocks 33 miles.

Arne Souminen, Detroit medico, retained first place in the grind with an elapsed time of 112:50:45 for the 651.8 miles from Los Angeles by running second to Ed Gardner, Seattle, on the 41.8 mile lap yesterday, from Holbrook to Navajo.

The leaders in the bunion derby today, together with their elapsed time for the 651.8 miles from Los Angeles are:

What it takes to make a man pipe-happy, P.A. has!

TAKE a piece of paper and write down all the things you like in a smoke. Then buy a tidy red tin of P.A. and check the tobacco against your list. Open the package and release that tantalizing P.A. fragrance. Load up and light up. One thrill now follows another. You're ready to believe all the fine things you've heard about P.A.

Cool as a jury-foreman, rising to speak. Sweet as his words: "Not guilty." Mild as your interest in a civil suit. Mild and mellow, but with that rich, satisfying tobacco-body that only the world's most popular brand can offer. You can't seem to get enough of tobacco like this!

The proof of the puffing is in a pipe packed with P.A. Go get some now and see what a real companion your pipe can be when you put it on the right ration. Just around the corner is a store where they hand out pipe-joy in tidy red tins. Your cue-to-contentment is to get around there now.

TWO full ounces of genuine smoke-joy in every tidy red tin.

Stolen Idols

A Romance of the Sea
By Frank L. Packard.

The Monotah's chances were surely and swiftly diminishing. The white line of spume was perilously close aboard. It seemed almost as though he could hear the angry roar of it as the seas broke endlessly and flung high their spray in a pale, misty film against the darkness. And the trend of the reef now seemed to be sharply to seaward—as though it were reaching out with malicious and determined purpose to block even the feeble efforts that the ship was making to escape her doom, and, by narrowing down to the vanishing point the scant stretch of clear water that still remained, trap her and depolish her utterly.

The situation was desperate. There was not one chance in a thousand now that the Monotah could claw to windward past that jutting point of reef. She was sullen, lifeless, hulk-like, unresponsive to the rags of sail. Captain Karier was to be commended, of course, for not alarming his passengers until it was absolutely necessary—but there was such a thing as delaying too long. The native passengers were already alarmed—intuitively. But the passengers in their cabins here! Especially Verna Lyle!

He took a few steps along the deck—and stopped. There was a light showing through the closed shutter of her stateroom—he saw her shadow move across it. Perhaps Captain Karier had already sent word along. The other two passengers quite likely might be up on the boat deck now. In any case Verna Lyle was already awake.

CHAPTER 17.

There was still the boat deck. It seemed a grotesquely futile thing now to give any further consideration to the five Chinamen and their intended victim! What did it matter whether a man's life went out by means of a knife thrust or by being mauled and pounded to death on the Baalu Reef? No; his logic was rather at fault there. Even if the Monotah struck, it did not mean that all on board were necessarily lost. The "man with the torn garment" was entitled to his chance too! too!

Well, the boat deck, then! He retraced his steps forward along the main deck, and began to mount the starboard ladder. It was not inclined, and suddenly, halfway up, he halted and stared down on the deck below. Something shadowy seemed to have passed by quite close to the ladder—or was it merely imagination? It was gone now. Not there it was again! He could see it quite distinctly now—a figure in native dress that appeared to be creeping stealthily along toward the row of cabin doors a little farther aft. The "holy man"—the East Indian fakir! He was sure of it—there was no mistake. And then, as though it had embodied itself out of the air, another figure came into sight, a figure whose arm was uplifted in ugly suggestiveness, a figure that ran swiftly and silently after the "holy man"—the figure of a Chinaman.

Bob Kingsley was in action now. With a shout of warning to the East Indian, he leaped to the deck, and raced toward the two figures. He knew now who the "man with the torn garment" was—but he knew too late. Ah, the East Indian turned at the warning about, the Chinaman was upon him, the uplifted arm striking downward with a blow that was lightning swift and that seemed to bury itself in the "holy man's" side.

A cry rang out—inarticulate. The Chinaman raised his arm for a second blow, but Bob Kingsley was between the two now. Snarling, and with a fury that made of him almost a madman for the moment, his hand shot out and wrenched the knife from the Chinaman's grip. But the next few seconds were a blur. As he drove a clenched fist at the Chinaman's face, the East Indian sagged heavily against him and the blow went wild. He staggered, thrown slightly off his balance as the "holy man's" weight came against him—and a sudden roll of the ship to port threw him violently, with the East Indian clinging to him, against a cabin door.

The door seemed to open of its own accord. He was conscious that the Chinaman was scurrying away along the deck; and then, with the "holy man" beneath him, he pitched forward and sprawled upon the floor of a lighted cabin. The knife spun from his hand and fell upon the berth a yard away; and, as a second passed, he noticed that its blade was an ugly color against the white sheet—that the East Indian did not move, and that there was a red blotch spreading over the man's none too clean clothing. And then Bob Kingsley became aware that his own hand was wet—quite red. He lurched to his feet, and brushed his hand across his eyes. Yes, of course, it was Verna Lyle's cabin. The whole thing had taken place just outside her door. She was standing there now a few feet away from him, staring at him with horror-stricken eyes out of a face that was whiter than any face he had ever seen.

It might have been an unreasoning impulse, one which in a cooler and more contained moment Bob Kingsley might have denied; but it was an impulse born out of a merciless fury that surged suddenly upon him, and he yielded to it instantly. Without a word to the girl who stood there facing him across the cabin, he turned, sprang through the door, and ran at top speed toward the forward end of the deck. This was the direction in which the Chinaman had fled. It had only been a matter of a few seconds. The man wouldn't get away if he could help it! Bob Kingsley, not for the first time in his tempestuous life, was seeing red.

He was not indifferent, however, to the fact that it was not a nice situation, perhaps in which to leave a girl; but Verna Lyle was the competent kind—he felt sure of that, and that the wounded man would have far better care than he, Bob Kingsley, could have given him. He could not, of course, have left the man untended and alone; but, as it was, there was no reason why the cowardly bound who had knifed his victim in the dark should get away unscratched if he could be found.

His lips were tight, his face hard as he reached the end of the deck. No Chinaman! No, of course, not! The swine wouldn't stay up here—he would have ducked below, and made for that rat's hole, wherever it was, where the rest of the yellow vermin had been hiding since they had left the store-room in the alley-way. The point was to catch him before he had time to hide away—falling that, to find the rat's hole itself this time and dig them all out.

His face was harder still as he reached the lower fore deck. No Chinaman here, either! He ran, nosing like a dog in every corner. No Chinaman! He ran through the alleyway to the after deck. The same result! It was like his former search—save that now he was wholly obsessed with it. They were going to be dug out this time! He had seen that knife thrust. Fury rose in him. It was devil's such as these that had so nearly put a noose around his neck in Sarawak!

He started back through the alleyway again. The fore deck held the greater possibilities—down in the fo'c'sle head—in the crew's quarters—somewhere! They must be somewhere, and—He became suddenly aware of some one coming toward him along the alleyway on the run. They bumped together. In the dim light he saw that it was Carter, one of the officers. The man's face looked gray and strained. He heard the other fling a question at him brusquely:

"What are you doing here, Mr. Moore, at a time like this?"

Bob Kingsley's answer came mechanically. "There's a Chinaman amuck," he said hoarsely—and shook himself free of the other's hand that was suddenly laid upon his shoulder. He had no time to bother with the man.

And then he was conscious that Carter was staring at him half pityingly, half scornfully—or at least it seemed so, anyway. He didn't like that. "A Chinaman! My God!" Carter exclaimed heavily; and then, sharply: "Look here, you're not going a bit better, are you? There's still a chance. Get a grip on yourself! Go and get your lifebelt on, and go up on the boat deck at once—as you must have already been told to do. But for God's sake don't lose your nerve—the natives will do enough of that for all of us! You're a white man—keep a stiff upper lip."

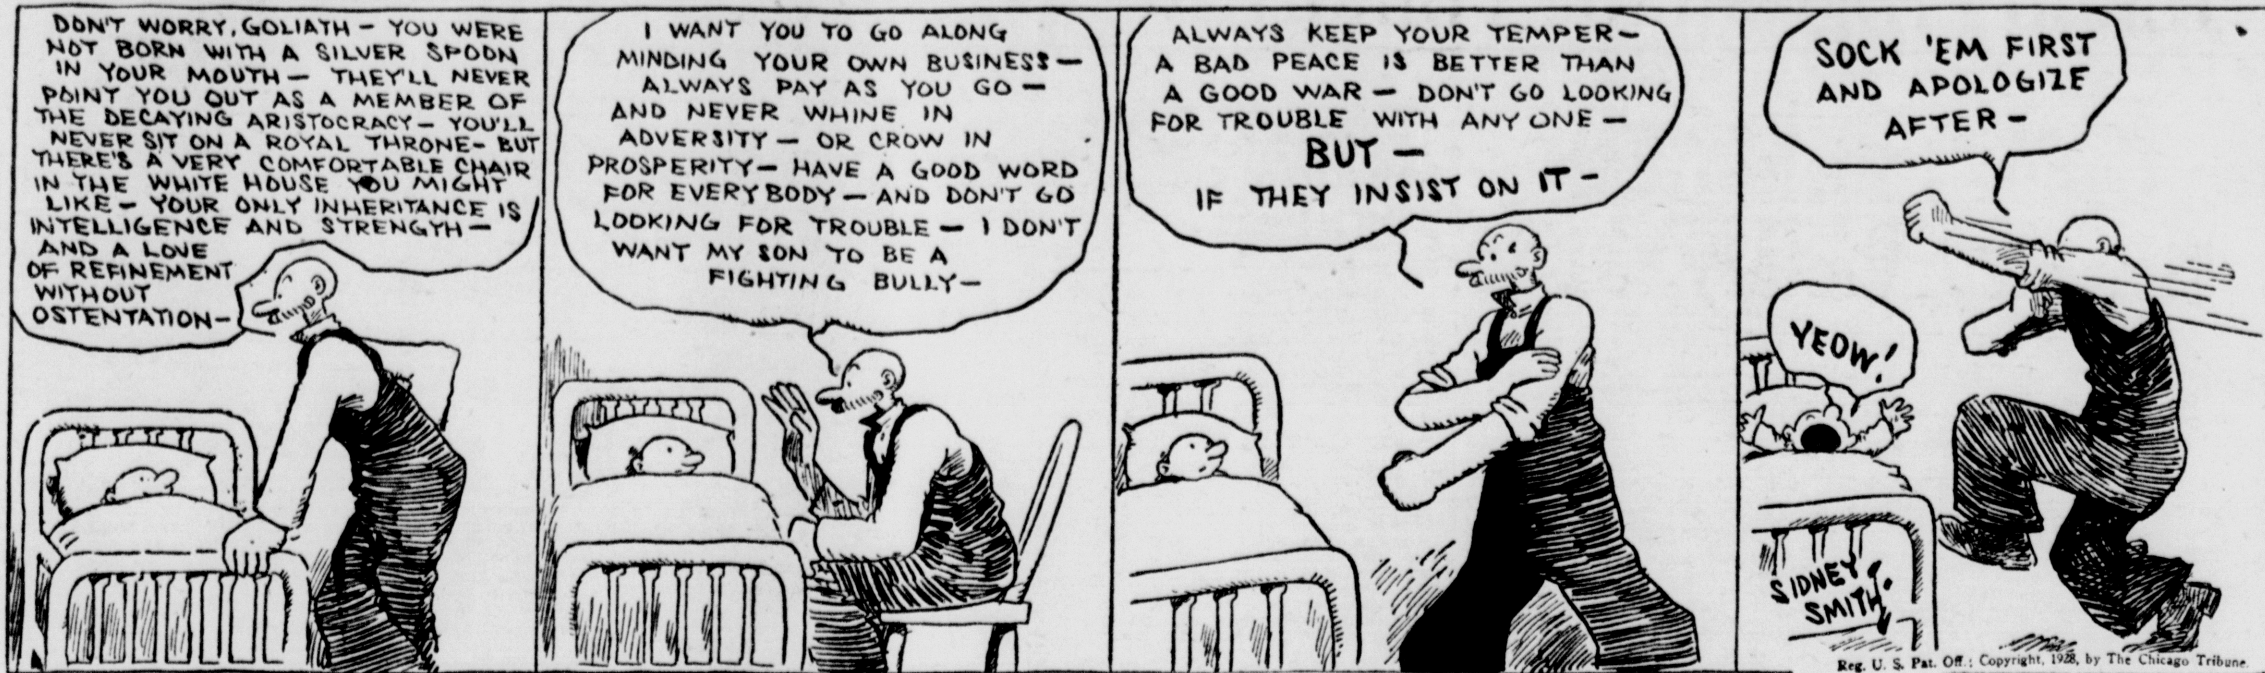

Something choked in Bob Kingsley's throat. The red flared into his face.

"You go to hell!" he flung out furiously, and ran on through the alleyway.
